

Homeland Secure IT and Wiresoft Have Partnered to Deliver “Never Been Breached” Network Security and Drive Down IT Costs for Upstate SMBs

Greenville, SC , 12/17/09: Homeland Secure IT announced today that it has partnered with Wiresoft, a leading provider of affordable, high performance network security products for America’s small and medium-sized businesses (SMBs).

Homeland Secure IT selected Wiresoft Firegate Unified Threat Management (UTM) platforms from the numerous product offerings in the category because it matches their mission, to deliver unparalleled support at costs that Upstate SMBs can afford. With Firegate SMBs are protected by a product has never been breached, and with a pricing model focused on simplicity.

Homeland Secure IT CEO John M. Hoyt said “Behind the blanket of protection that Wiresoft delivers from having never been breached, the pricing plan is the most attractive in this category. One product, one price. No need for costly add-ons that other solutions we have offered require. With other products, we can quickly exceed the cost of the Firegate adding on these options without coming close to the functionality. We can offer one quote that doesn’t change even if our clients’ needs do.”

Homeland Secure IT has found success in offering free network evaluations to SMBs, and they excel in environments that have key compliance requirements. Those compliances include GLBA, PCI, HIPAA, and CIPA.

Hoyt continued, “We offer free network evaluations because protection and compliance can never be compromised. We recognized that quite often potential customers had IT issues that weren’t addressed, holes in their network coverage, a lack of information shared with them as to where they were vulnerable and why, and all the while they were paying high premiums on both products and service. We didn’t believe that’s what Upstate businesses deserved so we’re changing that.”
